CAMPUS WEEK

Pre-finals week studiers jammed the library Monday. Standing-room only became the byword, both there as well as upstairs on first floor Jones. There the lines stretched down the corridor as early birds waited in line for pre-registration material. A steady downpour of wet snow fell most of the day, and people wished for rain. Greeks and Rally Comm held their last meetings until after finals (See Greeks and Organizations).

The rain held off Tuesday. Instead, the ground was crunchy from a heavy frost. Most people got the registration urge, and the lines grew longer. The Dean's office was filled at all hours with request makers and would-be chapel class evaders. Convocation goers heard Walter West of the Better Business Bureau, and Central Board members heard more on the Chapel system (See CB Minutes).

The rain finally came Wednesday, and with it a wicked wind. An air of dejection hung low over the campus. No one seemed to know why, except that it was contagious, and passed from one to another until it filled the school. Spirit was low as people debated whether to study or go watch the Lutes (See Sports).

Last minute registration kept some occupied Thursday. TRAIL reporters were relieved. Their semester's work was done when the paper was put to bed in the late afternoon.

Friday came with the usual expressions of thanks. The ball game tonight (See Sports) and the following sock dance (See Students) were to be the last events before the two weeks of hibernation.

STUDENTS

Trail Dance . . .

Bright socks and no shoes will be in order tonight at a TRAIL sponsored sock dance following the ball game. The dance will be held in the SUB, and the proceeds will go toward the "better TRAIL" fund. Stags will be admitted for 25 cents, and couples for 40 cents. Music will be by AWS records. Closed week has been postponed until 12 this evening to allow for the dance, the last social affair before finals.

This issue of the TRAIL will be the last until after the beginning of the new semester, due to the faculty ruling that no activity may operate during closed period.

Honor System . . .

Next Tuesday and Thursday in Convocation, the Honor System, as presented here, will be presented to the student body for their consideration.

The aim of the proposed system is to cut down on all forms of cheating in connection with course requirements. The responsibility of honesty in tests and in the preparation of term papers and book reports is put squarely on the students and not on the professor. In presenting the plan to several campus groups it was learned that there were estimates as high as 50% on the number of people cheating by copying, cribbing, etc. A group headed by Jim Ernst decided last year to investigate the possibility of an Honor System as it was operating successfully in such schools as Occidental, Stanford, and Colorado Springs.

In order for us to have such a system here, a large majority of the students must feel it worthwhile and be willing to accept the responsibility of making it work. If students approve the plan, and if the faculty votes in favor of it, the system may be possibly put into effect around the third week in February.

In speaking of the program, Cal Frazier said, "This step would be a big one, and all faculty and students will be concerned; so study and discuss the system well before making up your mind. Its passage would mean a pledge of honor on most papers turned in to professors the second semester. This pledge can serve to be a reminder to us that in these days of bribes and mink coats, there is still such a thing as honesty."

The Honor System covers all tests of one period in length, or longer. These tests will be conducted by the professor, but he will give the tests out at the beginning of the hour and answer any questions of the students. He will then leave the room, placing the students on their honor. He may return to the test room sometime during the period in case any further questions have arisen. When the student has been placed on his honor, he:

- (1) Will not cheat, this means the giving or receiving of aid from any source.
- (2) Will not leave the room until he has finished his paper.
- (3) Will not talk during the test.
- (4) Will sign a pledge to his paper similar to this: "I have not given or received aid during this test."

If, during the course of a test, a person is detected cheating in some manner, the detector may begin tapping slowly, but distinctly, on the edge of his desk. When this tapping is started, the whole class will tap a few times, then continue with the test. If the offense is too serious for this tapping, the offender's name may either be turned into a member of the Honor Council, or written on a piece of paper and placed in the ASCPS mailbox in Jones Hall.

The Honor Council will be composed of five seniors who will question the offenders. For the first infraction of the Honor code, the offender found guilty will fail the test in which the cheating was done. For the second infraction, the offender will fail the course in which the cheating took place. For the third infraction, the guilty party will be expelled from school.

Suggestions which accompany this system which have been made by students are: that essays tests be used where possible; that there be a library file of tests from each professor; that there be at least one test before the mid-semester test; that each professor state the objectives of the course at the beginning of the semester; and that if the professor desires to help relieve temptation, they may use alternate seating.

The Honor System has been suggested so the students will not feel they have to cheat "because everyone else does." The system can only succeed if everyone will be on their honor in all their work.

Poem

The following seems rather appropriate in this week of hard times:

Our father, who art at CPS,
Franklin be thy name.
Thy music building come,
Thy library be done,
On earth as it is on paper.
Give us this day our bachelor of arts
And forgive us our debts
As we borrow from one another.
Lead us not into conyocation
And deliver us from PLC,
For thou art the President,
The power and glory of CPS.

Exempt Seniors . . .

Dean Regester has announced that eight seniors, who graduate in January are being excused from final examinations. Persons being excused have maintained a better than "B" average during their course of study.

They are: Sam T. Banakes, Catherine M. Corum, Christian Elison, Genevieve E. Farmer, Lawrence J. Grotz, Lawrence E. Hagman, John G. Lang, and Roy E. Morehead.

Chapel Courses . . .

"Chapel requirement is not new," said Dean Regester. "In the past," he went on, there had been quite a bit of absenteeism from chapel, and at the beginning of the fall semester methods of enforcement were discussed among the faculty and students." The results of the discussions were announced "... pretty largely through the TRAIL."

The list of chapel delinquents is not complete, however, to date approximately 75 students have received a copy of the following mimeographed letter: "Will you please note the statement about convocation credit on the accompanying page. In accordance with it, since you had excessive absences in Chapel in the first semester of the current year, you will be expected

CENTRAL BOARD MINUTES

January 8, 1952

The meeting was called to order by President Cal Frazier. The roll was taken and the minutes were read and approved.

DEPARTMENTAL REPORTS

Men's Intramural—Cam Haslam reported that Sigma Alpha Epsilon placed first in Intramural Badminton. Intramural Basketball will begin at the first of the new semester.

Women's Intramural—Joanne Ryan announced that Intersorority Volleyball is in progress this week. Bowling of preliminary games must be completed by February 1.

Dramatics—Don Wolvers reported that the Dramatics Department is in the process of selecting the Spring Play.

Forensics—Larry Grotz announced that the Girl's Junior Debate team and the Men's Senior Debate team won first place at the tournament at Seattle Pacific College. There will be a Town Hall Tournament at Portland on January 14 and 15.

Deep Creek—Dick Jacobson reported that the tow is in operation every weekend. The school bus runs up to Deep Creek Saturday morning and returns on Sunday night.

Trail—Dorothy Ross reported that the Trail on Friday will be the last for the semester. There will be a Sock Dance in the SUB after the game Friday night, sponsored by the Trail staff.

Rally Committee—Ralph Mackey announced that the plans are nearly completed for decorating the SUB with various school pennants. There will be a game Wednesday night with PLC and Friday night with St. Martin's. He explained that the first row on the bleachers in the cheering section will be removed to allow room for the yell staff.

OLD BUSINESS

Mr. Banks announced that due to a suggestion by a student of CPS which was taken to Central Board, Vice President Rod Smith and he have contacted the Tacoma Transit System and they have agreed to let the students ride within the city limits for ten cents upon showing their Activity Cards. This is on a trial basis for 60 days.

Seating arrangements at the Basketball games was discussed. There seems to be disfavor among the students toward the new arrangement however Mr. Banks explained that the College cannot afford the expense of setting up the bleachers for each game.

Larry Hoover reported that Central Washington would like to bring their assembly to CPS sometime in the latter part of April. Larry Hoover moved that $20 for Central Board's Unexpended Balance be used to defray the expenses encountered during the Campus Chest drive. The motion was seconded and carried.

The present system of enforcing Chapel attendance was discussed. An additional three-hour course if required which does not count toward graduation requiring a person to take 18 hours to continue school. These extra hours must be paid for and many students can take extra hours because of their grade points. It was decided to send a committee to see Dean Regester about the matter. Larry Hoover, Dorothy Ross, Ted Vaughan, Rod Smith and Jim Nelson were placed on this committee.

Corrine Engle requested that AWS be allowed to alleviate expenses on the Tolo from the balance from last year. Joanne Wood moved that AWS be allowed to make up any deficit for the Tolo from the last year's balance, up to $100. The motion was seconded and carried.

Ralph Mackey requested that Rally Committee be given $30 to pay last year's Tamanawas debt. Larry Hoover that $30 be taken from Central Board's unexpended balance to pay Rally Committee's Tamanawas debt. The motion was seconded and carried.

Ernie Tischhauser suggested that a booth be placed around the phone in the SUB. It was decided to look into this matter.

Respectfully submitted,
MARIAN SWANSON,
ASCPS Secretary.

to register in the second semester for one of the listed courses. This will satisfy the deficiency of convocation credit for the first semester, but does not remove the requirement of Chapel attendance in the second semester."

"Sincerely yours,

John D. Regester,

Deaan of the College."

Also in the envelope, mailed to the student's home, was a list of 29 courses from which the student might make a selection to make up the deficiency. Subjects offered include both 2 and 3 credit hour courses. The selections offer both upper and lower division courses, but neither will be counted toward any other of the students requirements such as total hours, distribution, requirements or upper-level hours.

During registration for the spring semester a student's registration card, in relation to convocation, will bear either the mark of SATISFACTORY or FAILING. "Of course," said the Dean, "a student with more than 3 absences will be considered failing." The Dean went on to explain that absences only since the plan of enforcement has been adopted will be considered.

When asked what type of excuses would be accepted by the chapel committee for absenteeism, the Dean replied: "Oh . . . those students practicing teaching. Their mornings are completely taken up." The Dean offered as another possibility a student who, being married, and had no other activity on the campus Tuesday or Thursday, would not be expected to attend.

When asked if he considered the plan of enforcement effective, Dean Regester replied: "It's a little early to say anything with finality." He concluded by saying that attendance has improved; definitely.

Reduced Rates . . .

Proof that suggestions dropped into the box in Jones Hall sometimes reach an ultimate end was the announcement earlier in the week that the Tacoma Transit Company had agreed to offer a reduced rate of 10 cents for bus riding students in the city. The action came through efforts of Mr. Banks and ASCPS vice president Rod Smith. The reduced fare is good at all hours upon the showing of a student body card. The rate is on a trial basis for 60 days.

Water Navigation . . .

Classes in water navigation now being held at CPS will be continued next semester, according to Dr. Sprenger. The second semester classes will start January 17. They will be held every Thursday night starting at seven-thirty o'clock. Instructions include piloting and small boat handling.

The classes are held under the auspices of the United States Power Squadron, an organization devoted to instructing the public in safe and intellectual boat handling. Dr. Sprenger is one of the instructors.

Ski Classes . . .

Attention skiers.

All persons who have signed up for ski classes beginning this Saturday are asked to meet in room 215 of Howarth Hall at three o'clock this afternoon.

The ski classes, constituting a second semester course, are being started early to take advantage of heavy winter snow. The classes originally were slated to start last Saturday, but were postponed to enable ski students to register with the remainder of the school this week.

The classes will be held at Deep Creek. A bus will leave the campus for the mountain resort this Saturday morning at eight o'clock and will return Sunday afternoon.

Military Ball . . .

CPS's first Military Ball is now being planned for February 8th in the Fieldhouse. Military and non-military personnel, in other words, everyone, are invited to the semi-formal affair, and high ranking officers in the area will be special guests, say George Pearson and Wally Tonstad, the official planners. The dance goes on from 9 to 12, and other than that, plans haven't been quite completed.

Debate Tournament . . .

The roads looked bad last Friday, and it had been two weeks since anyone practiced, but the debate squad had made a new year's resolution to do even better than they had done last year. This they did by winning cups in both Junior and Senior division debate in the first tournament of the new year. The tournament was held at Seattle Pacific College.

Bringing home the honors for Junior Division were Sheila Ryan and Nadean Taylor, who won first in debate and second and third in oratory. Larry Grotz and Arlis Johnson won the cup for Senior division debate. Other forensic students who assisted in this excellent start of the new year were: Larry Brown, Bob Zelasko, Curtis King, Tom Medowcroft, Tom Stanfield, Ed Olmstead, Bob Gee, Pete Peterson, Dean Scovell and Barbara Swall.

Portland Trip . . .

Proving that debate training is valuable in any type of speaking, five members of the forensic department leave Monday for a series of panel discussions at Portland, Oregon. The discussions are the same type as the Town Meeting of the Air and will be held before an audience. The topic for discussion will be methods of ending the cold war. The program is sponsored by the Vanport Extension of the University of Oregon and will be competitive. CPS students who will speak on the panel are Larry Grotz, Arlis Johnson and Curtis King. Acting as moderators will be Sheila Ryan and Tom Stanfield.

Help Week . . .

CPS Greeks will unite to hold their help week January 28-31. The week will be climaxed with the IFC banquet Thursday night at the Winthrop Hotel. Tentative plans call for Governor Langlie to be the guest speaker.

Projects for the week will be painting the inside of the Tacoma Day Nursery, and collections for the Says Dick Albertson, chairman, "All Greeks are cooperating for "Greek Help Week." The week is a "first" at CPS, and Dick hopes it will bring favorable recognition to CPS and to the Greeks.

SPORTS

Rangers Tonight . . .

The Loggers play Saint Martin's in the fieldhouse tonight at 8 o'clock. There will be a JV game at 6:15. This is the third meeting of the year with the Rangers and CPS has been victorious twice by 56-53 and 61-49 scores.

Coach John Heinrick probably will start Dwayne Westlin and Dan Inveen at forwards, Don Maitland at center, and Russ Wilkerson and Jake Maberry at guards. Bob Burns and Dick Wisz probably will get the nod at forwards for Saint Martin's and Don Hall, center, and Jerry Kelly and Walt Brudvik, guards, round out the Ranger lineup.

This Is the Story . . .

This is the story of a basketball team plagued by inexperience, lack of height and an almost horrifying habit of folding once on the short end of a score. This is the story of a hoop quintet—lost in a flurry of nine defeats in thirteen games—which found itself.

This is the story of a CPS five which dropped a 53-51 heart-breaker to a highly favored PLC squad. Wednesday night yet won more admiration and respect than any victory could have given them.

This is the story of a coach who refused to concede and of a bunch of kids—somewhat short on ability—who managed to find what that coach looked for through a rocky pre-season slate.

It all began in late November when the gang took the fieldhouse maples for their first practice session with John Heinrick. Then, it unfolded through 13 agonizing games in which the Logger mentor took it while his hoopsters lost to everyone save UBC and Saint Martin's.

It reached a climax on the maples of the fieldhouse Wednesday night when all of Heinrick's experimenting and doggedness to his task paid off. It reached a climax when the buzzer sounded with the Loggers two points short and even the most ardent Lutheran fan feeling like there was more to come.

Building up to the climax of the season—a season, incidentally, which remains but half finished—was the work of eight hustling Loggers. The work of a letterman forward, Dwayne Westlin, who dropped in 14 points against the Lutes; the work of a jumping jack front court man, Dan Inveen, who grabbed off 16 rebounds; and the work of a freshman guard, Russ Wilkerson, who steered the ball club after its captain had fouled out, left the fans talking.

And, all the talk was about the future—the Logger games ahead—and especially about a February 16th date at Parkland. This is the story as of now—there's more to come—you can rest assured.

Intramural . . .

The SAE badminton team of Earl Schalin, Ross Tolles, Jim Ofelt, and Darrell Lee annexed the intramural badminton crown this year by finishing a 21 set schedule with an 18-3 record.

The final standings were:

	W.	L.
Sigma Alpha Epsilon	18	3
Sigma Chi	16	5
Kappa Sigma	14	7
Todd Hall	12	9
Theta Chi	9	12
Sigma Nu	8	13
Delta Kappa Phi	7	14
ROTC	0	21

Basketball is next on the agenda, and will be started with the spring semester. All organizational managers are urged by Cam Haslam to be at next Monday's meeting in Harry Bird's office in the fieldhouse.

GREEKS

Last Monday night Delta Alpha Gamma meeting was alternately interrupted with the arrival of three boxes of chocolates. The newly engaged Gammas are: Doris Beardsley to Gene Nelson, Joyce Myles to Dick Ross, and Bev Lichtenwalter to Roger Ringstad.

At their last formal meeting of the semester, Delta Kappa Phi elected officers for the coming semester as follows: President, Ken Sage; First Vice-President, Don Charleson; Second Vice-President, Don Boesel; Recording Secretary, Mike Barber; Corresponding Secretary, Peter Burkhalter; Treasurer, Jack Brown; Historian, Del Brooks; Sgt.-at-Arms, George Pearson.

Delta Kap Eugene Westland had a Christmas vacation that will last him for several years. On the Friday before Christmas he was accepted at the University of Washington Medical School for the fall term starting in September 1952. Then on New Year's Day his wife presented him with a 7 pound 13 ounce boy, Steven Michael. It was not only the Westlands' first child, but also the first baby born in the city of Tacoma in the year 1952.

At Monday night's meeting two Pi Beta Phi alums announced their engagements. They are: Marilyn Jacobsen to Jerry Converse, and Gloria May to Al Savio. Pledge Patsy Hamm announced her engagement to Kappa Sigma pledge Dick Baker. Jeanne Marie Henriot is pinned to Dick Fraser, Sigma Chi at the University of Washington.

The Sigma Nu house is awaiting the new rug for the chapter room. The purchase of the rug is the first step in a scheduled redecorating of the house.

No meals were served during the past week because of Mrs. Steele's absence.
